AFRAID OF HIMSELF. A Young Man Seized With an Inclina

tion to Commit Murder. CHICAGO, July 25th .- A weird and awfu tale was told yesterday to Judge Gary in the County Court by Henry Munzer, an alleged lunatic. He is a young man about 27 years old, and of a most excellent charter. He was until a year ago employed in a large mercantile house as an expert accountant. He was rational as he took the witness chair. He was not insane, but he was fast becoming so, and while he avoided any direct reference to his dread nalady be spoke of "the end" in tones that would have melted a heart of stone. He said, in answer to a question by the

"I had a good position, a comfortable ome and the kindest father and brothers never indulged in any excesses of any kind, but I became nervous. I went to see loctors but they did me no good. Then it grew worse and worse. I felt a horrible esire to kill some one. Sometimes it became almost irresistible, and the efforts to control it was awful. I knew the end was oming. I could feel I could not continue to restrain myself, and might at any time kill some of my friends. I did not care or myself. "One day a friend opened a pocket-knife and began to whittle. I could hardly hold nyself, and I had to shout to him: 'For God's sake, put that knife away!' "And the nights and the darkness! Oh hey were horrible. No one knows what I suffered. He told how he spent six months in a sanitarium at Geneva lake, but that the treatment did not help him. Then he re-turned to Chicago, but since reaching here has not gone to his home, fearing the homicidal mania would overpower his will. He wanted to be confined in the State asylum at Kankakee.

During the recital of Munzer's sorrowfu story, the Judge, jury and audience had prought strongly to their mind the awful story of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The dramatic feature was not in the witness' voice or words so much as the awful agony and change portrayed in his face. While he was telling of his desire to murder, his untenance assumed such a malignant expression that one would almost swear it was not the same man who a moment be fore had been sitting quietly in the chair.

The jury found him insane and commit ted him to the asylum at Kankakee.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

To be Held in New York City in the Year 1892-Preliminary Steps. New York, July 25th.-In response to invitations extended by Mayor Grant the representative business men of this city embled in the Governor's room in the City Hall this atternoon, to consider a project for holding an international exposion in New York in 1892. Mayor Grant presided and was made permanent Chairman of the committee.

The appointment of four committeesone on permanent organization, one on finance, one on legislation and another on site and buildings-was decided on. The Chamber of Commerce this afternoon appointed a committee of sixty of the most prominent citizens to co-operate with the National, State and city authorities in promoting the project and making a success of the exposition.

Hundreds are bankrupt, and will bave to be supported temporarily by the county. The Commissioners to-day estimate the loss in Lee, Tygart, Slate and Steel counties at half a million dollars. At Saulsbury not a single here. not a single house or bridge stands on its foundation, and many people are in the woods. The Mayor issued an order for a meeting of citizens to-morrow, to render assistance to the homeless.

RAILROAD INTERESTS.

The Santa Rosa and Sabastopol Extension to be Constructed. New York, July 25th .- J. Mervyn Dona hue has completed the sale of one block of $175,000 of his bonds. He found no diffi-culty in placing the bonds, for New York capitalists have great faith in California investments. Mr. Donahue has within the last week purchased 2,500 tons of steel rails, three new engines and twenty-five cars. These will be at once shipped. The engines and cars are intended for service on the Santa Rosa line.

A contract of much importance has just been made by Mr. Donahue. This was for the building of a 12 mile line broad-gauge road from Santa Rosa to Sebastopol. The contract calls for work to begin immediately on the road, and be completed before Midway between Sebastopol and Santa Rosa a handsome stone station will be built and there a town in villa sites will be laid out. Mr. Donahue says that on the completion of this work it is his intenion to carry on the work begun on the Little Sonoma Valley Glen Ellen line, making the road a broad-gauge throughout its length. This work is to be begun in the fall and pushed to early completion.

BIG BRUISERS. Sullivan and Jem Smith Not Likely to Meet in San Francisco. NEW YORK, July 25th.—Responsible in New York, July 25th.—Responsible inquiry has been made to President Fulda of the California Athletic Club, as to the amount of the purse Sullivan and Smith are to fight for. Editor Lumley says the purse should equal the amount of stakes of the Sullivan Kilrain fight. In addition, smeshed. The crew proceeded to Poposit. the Sullivan Kilrain fight. In addition, smashed. The crew proceeded to Popoff Sullivan will add $10,000 to any purse the club will contribute. There is little probability of a meeting, as cable advices state that Smith insists upon London rules, and that Smith insists upon London rules, and the substitution of the substitu Sullivan will only fight under Queensberry regulations.

Mrs. Maybrick.

New York, July 25th .- Mrs. Maybrick the American whose trial on the charge of murdering her husband by poison will soon take place in England, has, through a lawyer here, secured evidence which it is hought will secure her acquittal. At the Coroner's inquest it was alleged his wife treated his food with arsenic. On this evidence Mrs. Maybrick was indicted. It is now stated Maybrick was a confirmed arsenic eater, frequently taking the deadly drug in beef tea and soup in order to hoodwink his relatives.

Thomas Stansel, a former valet of Mayrick, has sailed for Liverpool to testify to the dead man's arsenic-eating habits. Storm in Minnesota. St. PAUL, July 25th .- A Pioneer Press Morristown, Minn., special says: A severe bail and electric storm passed over this vicinity this afternoon and did great damage. Several buildings were demolished. At Anoka the most terrific thunder and rain storm known in years was experienced. Much damage is reported from the sur-ounding country. MINNEAPOLIS, July 25th .- A Tribune's decide the matter. pecial from New Prague, Minn., says: A tornado 200 feet wide passed half a mile saloons, occupying nearly an entire block west this afternoon. The Government could not believe. he said, that any important section of the people grudged royalty the moderate provision necessary to maintain its dignity. If they examined the systems of other untries they would find the English system the most economical, giving invaluable tablility, while obtaining the respect of the English speaking people.

Labouchere moved the adoption of his ubstitute, declaring the sums given the royal family already ample, and if further vided through retrenchments in the royal assertion of economy, calling attention to the fact that while the President of the United States received only $50,000 annually, the Queen and her family receive

$3,500,000. The Government admitted large savings of the Queen from the civic list. Doubtless these savings were well invested. It was mpossible for the country to submit to the burden of an indefinite number of grand children. He did not complain of Mr. Gladstone supporting the grants. A STRANGE CASE. Assuming that the case of Harry Munzer is correctly reported, his comes very nearly being the realization of the fancy of Stevenson in the singular fiction "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde." It will not be the first time, however, that a wild fancy on the part of a romancist has been found to have a close parallel in reality. It proves, if anything, that after all our imagination cannot much run in advance of the things we know to be real. The story is that Munzer appeared the other day in a Chicago Court and asked to be sent to an insane asylum for treatment for homicidal mania. He relates that while at all other times well and perfectly sane, about once in two years his whole nature undergoes a radical change. He becomes morose and pear hereafter every Wednesday in the is disposed to seize any weapon at hand nighboring town of Woodland, reached us and kill the first person he sees. At such yesterday. It is published by the Leader times he is perfectly sensible of his conditimes he is perfectly sensible of his condi-tion; he knows what he is impelled to do appear. The first number gives promise of is wrong, but he realizes also that he is physically unable to control the impulse in its physical manifestations. His mental faculties, he declares, are at such times clear, they do not grow at all weaker, but seem to undergo a change, and he is conscious of a great revolution in his being,

but is unable to resist or to confess his condition to anyone. He told his father sufficient, in a lucid interval, to induce him

The report proceeds: I rom an innocent, harmless expression at the I rom an innocent, harmless expression at the beginning he changed to one of cunning and malignity as he proceeded. Deep lines appeared in his cheeks beside his nose. His eyebrows fell down and the corn rs of his mouth drew down. He sorehead wrinkled up as an old man's and his voice actually changed so that a listener might have supposed that a man of 45 years was talking. The words came from deep down in his chest, and, in fact, the entire aspect of the man was changed. He bent forward in his chair. His shoulders stooped and his eyes became watery. It was remarkable. his eyes became watery. It was remarkable. The Court gazed at the phenomenon before him in astouishment. When the narrator reached that portion of his recital where he spoke of killing, the jury gszed upon the face of a man about to commit murder. "That will do," seid the Judge in a husky voice. Munzer was startled at the command. He looked up wildly, then fell back in his chair, half exhausted, with sigh, Tours full down his check-nusted. a sigh. Tears fell down his cheeks, the wrinkles disappeared from his forehead, the fiendish expression left his face, and in a minute more he was the young man Harry Munzer again with an innocent face. This is altogether a remarkable story, and as dramatic as the fiction of Stevenson with which the public has been made familiar. It presents not a new problem in psychology, but a case in an old one, in the most pronounced form of which we have read. The effect of mental disturbance upon the physical condition has long been an interesting study, but there is no recorded instance of any such rapid and radical change as the case of Munzer il-Iustrates, nor has there been known any phase of the phenomena in former observations in which there is an immediate return to the normal condition as happened in the presence of the Court at Chicago. It is probable that Munzer's is a remarkably strong and marvelously developed case of mental action upon the physical being. Munzer is prohably so sensible to nervous excitation that his countenance rapidly as- sent for six weeks. sumes the cast that reflects the mental condition; and it is probable also that this singular mental disturbance is not so great as to wholly deprive its victim of consciousness of the character of the impulse by which he is temporarily enslaved. It is a strange case, and as an unusual and unparalelled phenomenon in psychological research it is to be hoped that the physicians will frequently inform the public of the development of the case and the discoveries to which it may lead.

THE departure of an expedition for Europe of a party of fifty artisans, representing the leading industries of America, is an event of no small importance. These skilled workmen go out to visit Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Lille and the great Exposition in Paris, and thence to the chief industrial points in Austria, Belgium, Germany and back to England, to examine many of the leading manufactures of that country and of Ireland and Scotland. The delegates are picked men and are sent out with the intention of having them inform themselves as fully as they can in a few weeks' of observation. the suggestion that their trip will awaken, cannot otherwise than benefit the trades of which they are the chosen represent-

Following this the graduates sang a pretty class song entitled "Whither," after which Miss Nellie S. O'Neill read an essay on "The Home as a Reflector of Character. The essay was full of philosophy and truth. The character of the inmate, she said, could The neat little cottage, though not denotng wealth and great prosperity, denoted that refinement and taste dwelt within. For example, she held up the dwellingplaces of the poets-Longfellow's historical country house, in which the Father of our country once resided, and many other like instances. The poets wanted nothing artificial or gaudy. The most natural and rural retreat was their choice.

Miss Alice Nixon next astonished the audience with the masterly manner in which she could speak the French tongue. She read an essay in that language entitled those in the audience who appreciated her enough force each to make a most enjoys "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung effectively and sweetly by Miss Effie J. Alsip, assisted by the other members of the class in the chorus, after which Lillie S. The next event was the feature of the evening-Miss Ida Desmond's vocal solo, descriptive of "The Dove." The young lady possesses a remarkably clear, sweet voice, the flexibility and compass of which astonished the critical audience. At the with knowledge and to give them an educonclusion of the rendition the little lady was applauded to the echo. The audience stormed for more, but she modestly bowed the choicest woods, and to Miss Weeks she and retired to her seat without granting them an extra. It was sometime before the spectators would consent to the next not forgotten, and received an elegant dianumber of the programme being rendered. H. H. Miss Etta Steinmann's valedictory adlress was brief, but to the point. It was full of pathos, too, and when she referred to the many, many bright and happy days spent in the school which they were now about to leave, tears were seen to glisten in the eyes of the graduates. "This farewell through the different rooms, and the means much," said the young lady to her classmates "It's like parting with an old friend. The pupils of Miss Josie Regan's class displayed their skill also in pencil and crayon drawing and water colors of a very high order of merit. The class-room was encircled by a row of maps, drawn and colored by the pupils in a manner which any engineering draughts-man might be proud of.

The exercises of the day opened with an nvocation, the first number on the programme being a piano and violin duet by Bertie and David Wasserman, aged respectively sixteen and fourteen years, both of whom acquitted themselves admirably.

Master Horatio Stoll recited "Labor i Worship," and Master Charles Harrison delivered "The Curse of Regulus," with excellent oratorical effect. Then followed a musical dialogue, in UNGRADED SCHOOL.

O, Ninth and Tenth Streets, Miss Jones, Teacher.

There was a large attendance at Miss S. M. Jones' school yesterday of those interested in the school. Flowers tastefully arranged brightened the school-room, and here and there decorations of the very plain rooms testified to loving exertion to make the closing exercises pleasing their surroundings. Miss Jones lead the children in their songs, and directed all the numbers of the programme with tender solicitude for the embarrassed and the reward of commendation for the courageous. The singing was far superior to any the school has done, simply because the teacher, at her own expense, has put an organ into the school-room as an aid in teaching them. The Board of Education appears to think that this school alone of all others should not have even a cheap organ, and refuses to supply it. It is a nig-gardly economy and a bit of injustice be-sides. The scholars showed greater proficiency in declamation than on any previous occasion. They acquitted them-selves well and deserve credit for their Laura Niles; "Pussy Willow," Lilly Shay;

Rev. Mr. Summers addressed the school in an appropriate manner, and another citizen who was present also spoke to the scholars. Miss McCormick the Principal of Intermediate and Primary Schools, was present during most of the exercises. The following was the programme:

THE VERDICT STANDS.

Siskiyou County Murder Conviction Sustained by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court has caused to be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Saacrmento District its decision confirming the judgment of the Superior Court of Siskiyou county in the case of the People vs. Dunn, convicted of murder in the second degree. The assault occurred in October, 1887, and the victim, one Pierson died in November following. The prisoner (and respondent set up the plea that death was not caused by the wound inflicted in October; also that the jury received evidence outside the Court, and on various other grounds. After disposing of other issues raised, the Court says: "Upon the point that Pierson did not die of the wounds inflicted upon him in the shooting, we think the evidence sufficient to support the finding that he did. Dr. Robertson, who treated deceased, said that it was his opinion that eath was caused sulting from the wounds he received in his arm and hand."

Bierce's Lost Bride. Neil Hubbs and Eva Adkins, the eloping friend and promised bride of young Bierce, and who ran away from Chico on the eve of her proposed marriage with Bierce, were not married in Sacramento, as was reported in dispatches. They went to Stockton, procured a license and were driven out to French Camp, where they were united in marriage by a Justice of the Peace. Hubbs is a son of Paul Hubbs, who lives near French Camp, and the young couple are supposed to be stopping at the latter's place.

The Attorney-General not only confirmed the opinion of ex-Attorney-General Brewster in 1882, but that of Solicitor of the Treasury Hepburn a short fused to accept the statement as fine Exclusion Act did not cover Chinese as tourists, and in the face of these eminent legal authorities I could not do otherwise. Beside, I was assured from a number of reliable sources that Chinese had been allowed to go through the country as tourists from San Francisco, New York and other points, and very successfully, not a single case being reported of one of them taking advantage of this privilege and stopping off "Mr. Secretary, what precautions will you now take to prevent their stopping off en route?" was asked. "Simply to reiterate the Department's circular of 1883 on the same subject; and if that should not be sufficient, I shall adopt more stringent ones."

The circular mentioned by the Secretary is dated January 23, 1883, is signed by Sec-

May 6, 1882; and further, that it is not incumbent upon such passengers to produce the certificates of identification prescribed by Sections 4 and 6 of that Act, provided that by competent proof they may otherwise establish their transient status. The Department of State has transmitted the opinion of the Attorney-General to this Department with its approbation. Treasury decision No. 5,313, dated July 20, 1882, is therefore revoked, and the following regulations are adopted by this Department to carry into effect the more recent opinion of the Attorney of the provided that it is to be done, and then they will probably receive some explicit instructions as to the course to be pursued in the future. It is course to be pursued in the future. It is said that the investigations of the Commission will establish one of two things: Either that the employes of the Pension Office, in presenting to the Commission for their signature cases of re-rating, were following the policy that had be-n pursued prior to Tanner's Administration or else that a combination had been formed for the purpose of getting through such cases, trusting to the ignorance and inexperience of the new Commissioner. The records of the cases will demonstrate which of these onclusions is the correct one.

In re-rating a case when it is done in ac cordance with the laws, it must be shown that there was some error in the original disposition of the case when rate of pen sion was filed. An increase in the rate of a pension is allowed on good evidence of this character, and it is claimed that many of the recent cases were re-rated on evidence which had nothing to do with the facts upon which the original pension was s also claimed that this thing has been going on for some time, and that the re-rated pensions are scattered all over the country. In the event that the Commissioner discovers that any of these re rated cases are legal, the facts can be reported to the ommissioner of Pensions, and law points adicate the course for him to pursue Pensioners are given sixty days in which to show cause why their pensions were legally granted. If they fail to do this, then the Commissioner can have their pension certificates recalled and the amount adjusted to the legal limit. He can destinate the can destin see that the passengers duly leave the United States. If they do not, he will report the fact to this Department. One list may be made to include all the Chinese transported at one time, and each list should be properly dated, signed and sealed by the Collector or beputy. Where cons derable numbers of Chinese intend to travel from the port of entrance to the port of exit, under charge of an agent, as before mentioned, it will be sufficient to have included in the descriptive list to be mailed to the Collector at the port of exit the number of persons who large a number of cases that have been made of the cond demand that the beack pension, if any, should be returned, and he has full authority to collect it as he would any other form of indebtedness. This is the reason why the report of the Commissioner is awaited with a good deal of interest. It is likely that some of the present pensioners will be called upon to refund. Watches and Diamonds Found in Teas and Coffee-A Novel Way of Introducing Goods.

The names of all persons finding diaonds, watches, etc., are added to this list The Overland Tea Company have refitted the store No. 421 J street, between Fourth and Fifth, formerly occupied by Cohn as a carpet store, and, in order to inroduce their goods, this company put for sixty days souvenirs in every can of tea and coffee sold, such as solid gold, silver and nickel watches; also, genuine dia-monds in solid gold setting; also, money and many other articles of less value. Every can contains a souvenir. The coffee can and contents weigh about three pounds tea, can and contents about one and onehalf pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after sixty days, and these really choice goods will be sold strictly on their merits, but without the souvenir. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diaand or watch. This company claim that they have just as good a right to give away watches, diamonds or other jewelry as their competitors have to give away glass-ware, chromos, etc. Get up a club. Many Treasury officials, including Acting Secretary Batcheller, believe that the proposition of the opinion means the virtual repeal of the exclusion laws. They admit that the safeguards established by the circular of January, 1883, are but flimsy at best, and that the coolies can mansage to obtain the number of these cases in charge of different attorneys, and he proposes to attach to the paper his affidavit, stating that the list includes all cases made special by his order.

pen day and night.

Calistoga, June 5, 1889.

IN ORDER TO TEST THE DIFFERENCE IN Bale Rope, about which there is much discussion, we to-day used one coil Eastern-nade rope, 59 lbs, which baled 67 bales hay, weighing 8½ tons, taking about 7 lbs rope per ton, and one coil of TUBBS CORDAGE CO.'S make, 57 lbs, which baled 88 bales, weighing 11½ tons, taking 5 lbs per ton. These facts prove that it takes about 40 per cent. more of Eastern rope to bale a ton of hay than it does of the Tubbs Rope. We used six strands to the bale and not a strand of the Tubbs Rope broke.

J. R. WRIGHT, Owner.

MARTIN WOLLESON, Baler.

I this day baled my hay with TUBBS CORD-AGE CO.'S Bale Rope, five strands to the bale, and it took less than 4 lbs rope to bale a ton. Not a strand broke.
